

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a method and system for wireless management of a server, an electronic apparatus is connected to a first wireless transmission device having a first
5 identification code exclusive thereto. The server is connected to a second wireless transmission device having a second identification code exclusive thereto. A wireless communications link is established between the electronic apparatus and the server via the first 10 and second wireless transmission devices.

T0004883-120701